Manager – Academic Advising

Department: Faculty of Arts: Undergraduate Office

Grade: USG 12
35 hr/wk

Effective date: Nov 5, 2010

Reports to: Associate Dean: Undergraduate Studies, Faculty of Arts

General Accountability:

The Manager – Academic Advising reports and is accountable to the Associate Dean: Undergraduate Studies. The position is responsible for providing primary support to officers and member of the Arts Faculty as well as the University of Waterloo community in areas relating to most matters of undergraduate curriculum and of undergraduate regulations and practice. This position’s advising specializations include concurrent degrees, transfer students (from both internal and external sources), and international students, whether in Arts degree programs, exchange programs, or Arts 2 + 2 programs. The position is also responsible for the overall development and implementation of student academic support initiatives and programs. The Manager – Academic Advising supervises the AUO’s Senior Academic Advisor and both Academic Advisors.

Nature and Scope:

The Arts Undergraduate Office (AUO) provides wide-ranging service to the Faculty of Arts as a whole as well as the University of Waterloo community in the areas of undergraduate curriculum development and change, and in the broad area of student engagement, which includes student recruiting, academic counselling and advisement, as well as any new initiatives focused on outreach, engagement and retention of new students, current students, and/or alumni. Specific activities and specializations of the AUO include communications and publications, recruitment and liaison, applicant counselling, admissions and transfer credit assessment, student advisement, course counselling and confidential counselling, student academic discipline, academic and standings progress monitoring, transition and retention, enrolment management support, and curriculum development and support.

The AUO serves a clientele of approximately 4,000 undergraduate students (of an estimated 7,000 full- and part-time students in Arts) with a wide range of needs and interests, and other significant groups including a large and various audience of Arts Faculty applicants and potential applicants, the Dean of Arts, Arts’ other Associate Deans, the Arts department Chairs and Associate Chairs: Undergraduate Studies, other offices and areas of the university, and other educational institutions and members of the public. Student clients may be full- or part-time, on campus or at a distance, OSS or non-OSS, domestic or international, young or mature, internal or external transfers, Honours Arts Year I, non-degree, in Honours Arts and Business regular or co-op, or in upper-year Liberal Studies.

While each of the five academic staff members holds a position representing particular aspects and focuses within the AUO, the relationships of the particular functions are very close, and the positions have the core skills of academic counselling and advisement in common. Each provides appropriate, empathetic, and equitable academic counselling at a highly informed level for all students under the Dean of Arts purview as well as individuals external to the Faculty of Arts who wish to pursue studies in the Faculty of Arts. All academic staff members work in co-ordination and frequent communication with each other and with the Associate Dean: Undergraduate Studies, to promote the successful achievement of the goals and purposes of students in the Faculty of Arts, and of the Faculty’s overall mission.

The Manager – Academic Advising is one of 11 staff members in the AUO, which is headed by Arts’ Associate Dean: Undergraduate Studies.
